

ACROSS

1. Descriptor for a Tom Hardy character (one day I'll use this same clue for the word 'obscure')
4. One prone to bluffing
8. Samuel Langhorne Clemens or country singer Shania, for two
14. Appropriate answer to "Why Does It Hurt When I Pee?"
15. "Pay ___ mind"
16. Bindi, for example
17. Groundbreaking 1966 debut for The Mothers of Invention, the title of which is rendered as a psychedelic speech bubble command from Frank Zappa
19. Word in a Kubrickian Bowie title
20. Adam used one to cover up his junk
21. Killer of potential womb entrants
22. Lon ___ (60s Cambodian PM whose name is a favorite among punsters)
23. Ruin an M. Night Shyamalan film, say
24. Death by Chocolate, oftentimes
27. www.nsa. ___
29. First Indian PM Jawaharlal (sorry to have two PM clues so close together, if you'd like to see some #gridreform you can PM me)
30. Letter that appears six times in this puzzle
33. Lead-in to a guestimated date
35. Astroglide or Wet product
39. New York art museum with a superb inventory of Old Master paintings
43. Professional wrestler John who has recorded two tracks with Wiz Khalifa
44. It's now Iraq's second most populous city due to people leaving Islamic State-controlled Mosul
45. It's dialed after a phone no.
46. Othello, et al.
49. Eight pack, e.g.
51. Summer music festival footwear
55. It's picked by a literal nitpicker
59. Documentarian Blank behind "Garlic Is as Good as Ten Mothers" (1980)
60. Documentary style: ___-on-the-wall
61. Like a seatbeltless passenger during a crash
63. When Julius Caesar is killed
65. Controversial oil welling technique
66. Rapper behind the 2013 mixtape "Acid Rap"
67. "Right back ___!"
68. High HI peak
69. Legendary name in economics
70. Hip flip phone from Motorola
71. Flub

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14			15					16
17			18					19
20						21			22
23				24	25				26
		27		28	29
30	31	32	33		34			35	36	37	38
39			40					41	42
43					44					45
		46	47	48			49		50
51	52	53					54	55		56	57	58
59			60			61	62
63			64			65
66						67				68
69						70					71

© 2016

DOWN

1. Beavers
2. Seminal Méliès film of 1902, "___ to the Moon"
3. Dora the Explorer's cousin
4. U-shaped security device
5. Public colonnade of Ancient Greece
6. "Tuff ___" (1986 Fabulous Thunderbirds hit)
7. Deterioration
8. Receptacle that gets a lot of snout action
9. Matrimony party, say
10. Subtract a negative
11. "The Wicked-ly talented" actress Menzel, whose name is not "Adele Dazeem"
12. Unacceptable
13. What a hepcat has
18. Absurd character from Staines-upon-Thames who wears a Wu-Tang Clan tracksuit
21. A Bernie supported might have high ones
25. Release, as a grip
26. Genre tag for many a midnight movie
28. Hydrocodone, to an addict
30. Fast food giant whose British subsidiaries carry desserts like Krushems and Kream Balls
31. First word of a legendary question posed by Devo
32. Force symbolised by a dark twisted teardrop shape
34. Scottish hero MacGregor who is the eponym for a Sir Walter Scott novel, a scotch cocktail and a Liam Neeson film
36. Often-illegal maneuver
37. Dick encaser in an SNL gag
38. Huorn relative, à la Tolkien
40. Use a Coleman or Kelty product, perhaps
41. Mesozoic, e.g.
42. Public transport option in San Francisco
47. Microsoft suite
48. Presses X in "Tony Hawk's Pro Skater" (on a PlayStation controller)
50. Whomp
51. Jazz singer Roberta famous for her Donny Hathaway duets
52. Dulce de ___ (milk-based confection)
53. "Should ___ or should..." (1981 song fragment; sorry for the earworm)
54. Big name in mattresses
56. Possessing handiness
57. Title with an eñe
58. Bassist Meyer who has collaborated with Chris Thile and Béla Fleck
62. He spells his pseudonym "H to the izz-O, V to the izz-A"
64. Days where you may spend a night, for one?
65. Word repeated for emphasis in a "Star Wars" intro